SEMC expansion planned $4.2 million medical office to be built

By Dennis Grubaugh
Managing Editor

GRANITE CITY — A three-floor medical office building worth $4.2 million will be built by St. Elizabeth Medical Center, the hospital announced Wednesday.

The structure will be located immediately adjacent to the Tri-Cor Medical Building at Madison Avenue and 21st Street. Although the hospital still must apply for its certificate of need from the state, it is expected that the project will receive approval and be ready for ground breaking in September, said President Ted Eilerman. It will take 12 to 18 months to complete.

"We hope this will add some momentum to the downtown projects being promoted by the city," Eilerman said. "We think Granite City is on the upswing."

The new offices have become necessary because the medical staff at SEMC has expanded considerably in recent years and several practices have grown to the point where larger quarters are imperative. Most doctors' offices can be found in the hospital wing facing Madison Avenue. Eilerman spoke before a group of approximately two dozen community leaders during a breakfast at the hospital Wednesday morning. The project has been in the works for many months.

The building will be brick, similar in color to the Ketteler Center and ancillary areas of SEMC. Each of the floors will contain 12,500 square feet, enough for three to six units per floor, said SEMC Vice President Jack Greaves, who is coordinating the project.

The building will be designed to add one or more floors as necessary, he said.

Grievances said offices are being designed for physicians in specialties of ear, nose and throat, internal medicine and orthopedics. "We are still discussing how some of the space in the new building will be used."

Grievances said the seven doctors with practices in the Tri-Cor building will not be affected by the renovation. The brick facade on the new building will be extended around Tri-Cor, so that the two buildings appear to be one.

The work will also include a patient drop-off area in front of the new building, accessible from 21st Street. An overhead walkway will be built between the first floor of the medical center and the new building, if city council approval is received.

Financing remains a question. The hospital is exploring several options, including tax-exempt, taxable, conventional and other financing means. The outcome still must be approved by the hospital board, said Eilerman.

More doctors on premises could mean more business for the hospital, but occupancy rates are not the only test of a hospital's success. "This will stabilize our in-patient census," Eilerman said. "But much of our business — 28 percent — is in outpatient services."

He estimated that SEMC has 70 percent of the market share of hospital services in the Quad City area.

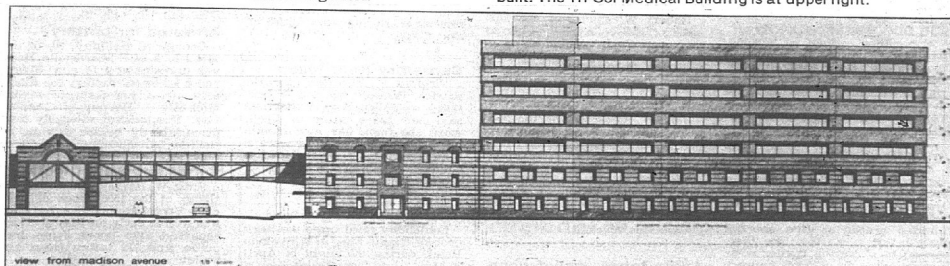

SEMC has been active in expansion in recent years. The Doctor's Wing was completed in 1972.

In 1977 an $18 million expansion included the Ketteler Center (a complex for mental health services), a parking garage and the one-story ancillary building. SEMC purchased the old McKinley School in 1980 and converted it to the Going Strong Wellness Center.

In 1986 the hospital constructed the 40-bed Edgewood drug treatment center in Edwardsville and in March 1990 broke ground for a medical office building next to Edgewood.

ALTHOUGH A three-floor office building is planned initially, it is being designed to add two more floors, shown by the drawing. A walkway will eventually link the Tri-Cor building (in center) with the rest of the hospital (not shown in this drawing).

Mother freed, grandfather visits boy

Herzing's attorney says sexual abuse possible, but not by his client

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Tamara Cooper was freed from the Madison County Jail on Wednesday after she pleaded guilty to her father — whom she alleges sexually abused her 4-year-old son — to visit with the boy for the first time in more than a year.

Last Wednesday, Associate Judge Ellar Duff sentenced Cooper, of Edwardsville, to 60 days in jail for contempt of court for defying a court order calling for Cooper to allow her father, Larry Herzing of Granite City, to visit her son.

Cooper, 24, had been hiding the boy from the court and from Herzing. She alleges that Herzing, 48, sexually abused the boy while the boy was living with him several years ago.

Herzing has repeatedly denied the accusations. He got to visit the boy for one hour Wednesday morning, in a courtroom with supervision.

Before Judge Duff issued a gag order at the conclusion of a hearing yesterday afternoon, Herzing's attorney, Bill Walker of Granite City, said he felt certain the boy had been sexually abused, but not by his client. He declined to elaborate.

Duff suspended the rest of Cooper's sentence on the condition that she comply with a court order allowing Herzing to visit the boy on a weekly basis.

Duff ordered the visits to be supervised by a representative of the Illinois Department of Family and Children's Services because the visits would be of increasing length weekly. Next week's visit will last two hours; the following week's visit will last three hours, and so on, with a maximum length of seven hours.

In explaining her decision to let Herzing visit the boy, Duff said she hadn't seen "a scintilla of evidence" to support Cooper's allegations.

Duff was told by Lindell Blackford, Madison County court liaison for DCF's, that the agency could only supervise the visits while the boy was a ward of the court.

The boy will remain a ward of the court until Cooper's allegations of sexual abuse are investigated by Granite City police and evaluators appointed by Duff.

Duff further ordered: "All parties are enjoined from taking the boy outside of Madison County, with the exception of the St. Louis metropolitan area."

"All parties are enjoined from talking to anybody about the case, other than police, court officials or the sex abuse evaluators. She said any violations could be punishable by contempt of court charges."

Duff said the boy would have two sessions with evaluators, who would then interview Cooper and Herzing.

Last Friday, Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine asked Associate Judge Jonathan Isbell in Juvenile Court to investigate Cooper's allegations of abuse. Isbell accepted the petition but consolidated it with the visitation rights case and sent it back to Duff's jurisdiction in Family Court.

On Monday, Assistant State's Attorney Amy Maher petitioned Isbell to separate the two cases. That petition has not been ruled on.

Cooper had vowed to stay in jail until her son is 18 years old, if that's what it took to keep him away from Herzing.

Last week, Scroggins made public a report from Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital that said the boy "has demonstrated behavioral changes consistent with sexual abuse."

Herzing had said Cooper's allegations are a ploy to deny him his right to see his grandson, a right spelled out under an Illinois law enacted last year.

The DCF's investigated the allegations but concluded that the evidence was insufficient to prosecute, said a state spokesman.

Tamara Cooper claims her father abused her son when the child was about 2 years old. The boy was living with Herzing in 1987-88 when she was unemployed and unable to care for the child.

She asserts that her son told her and his babysitter that Herzing fondled the boy's genital area.

Armed man captured after 2-hour standoff

NAMEOKI — Police captured a man wanted for shooting his former girlfriend's boyfriend after surrounding a house for nearly two hours Tuesday in the 4900 block of Willow Lane.

Thomas D. Farmer, 29, was talked into surrendering by a negotiator for the Illinois State Police Tactical Response Team.

Farmer was wanted in connection with the shooting early Saturday of James A. Rutter, 32, in Kirkpatrick Homes in Granite City. Rutter was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for a bullet wound to the right arm.

Farmer was charged in warrants issued by Circuit Judge Andy Matosian with home invasion and aggravated battery. He was being held Wednesday in the Madison County Jail in lieu of $150,000 bond.

About 20 officers from the Madison County Sheriff's Department, the Granite City Police Department and the Illinois State Police surrounded the house at about 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Two persons at the house, a man, 21, and a girl, 4, came to the front door almost immediately. A sheriff's deputy motioned for them to come out and they did.

Farmer was believed to be armed, and officers, using bullhorns and public address systems on their cars, repeatedly requested his surrender. Farmer's mother was brought to the scene and begged him to surrender, but he gave no answer.

Finally, the state police tactical team entered an attached garage and the negotiator persuaded the man to surrender, police said. Farmer was taken into custody at 7:32 p.m.

When he was arrested, Farmer's clothes appeared as if he had been hiding in a cramped and dirty space, police said.

Based on a tip, both Madison County and Granite City police went to the house on Willow Lane, in unincorporated Madison County. Once they arrived, a child at the residence tipped off police that "a man" was hiding in the basement.

Police later found a loaded

East Granite residents meet coordinator

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — About 85 residents of East Granite City attended a meeting Monday night at the Holy Family Recreation Center to meet David Williams, coordinator of East Granite's rehabilitation, and to discuss ways to strengthen citizen participation in the project.

Williams, who grew up in East Granite, started work Monday.

He said the question he had been asked most often was "how am I going to make people do something they don't want to do?"

"The short answer, he said, is 'I'm not. But I assume from the number of you present tonight that you do want to do something.'"

The East Granite project is a pilot program designed to select a declining neighborhood and for one year, devote all available city, state and federal resources to its rehabilitation.

David Williams, who grew up in East Granite, said the question he had been asked most often was "how am I going to make people do something they don't want to do?"

Williams brought along with him some information on guidelines for getting remodeling grants through Madison County Community Development and weatherization grants through the state.

But he pointed out that anybody who had gotten such grants in the past was ineligible to get them again.

Williams will help residents get such grants and will put them in touch with lending institutions for the purpose of getting improvement loans.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse said the city would spend $250,000 on the neighborhood. He told residents that East Granite had been selected to be the first neighborhood for the program because 60 percent of the homes there are in good condition and only a few need major work.

Cruse outlined four other potential neighborhoods for the program: the Tri-City Park neighborhood, North Granite, West Granite and Lincoln Place.

Cruse said the newly formed Lincoln Place Association has requested that Lincoln Place be targeted next.

Among other topics discussed:

• A nominating committee was selected to nominate officers for the East Granite neighborhood group.

• Residents were invited to make suggestions for names for the group.

• A special projects committee was set up, for such possible functions as fund raising and dedication of the park where Webster School was located. City Economic Development Director Alan Orbis said he expected the demolition of the school to be completed and grass sown on the site by the end of May.

Lavern "Red" Parker, acting chairman of the group, asked for a show of hands to indicate how many wanted the park to be named Webster Park. About two-thirds raised their hands.

• Operation Clean Sweep will involve a cleanup of yards and alleys. The group plans to award plaques to the best three blocks in the area. The area is divided into 13 major streets, with coordinators for each street.

The next meeting of the neighborhood group will be held June 4 at 7:30 p.m. at Holy Family.

Surrenders

22-caliber Ruger handgun under Farmer's jacket inside the house. Ballistics experts are testing the gun to see if it was the one used to shoot Rutter.

The owner of the home on Willow Lane is said to be Daniel Krause, an acquaintance of Farmer. Krause was away from the home when police arrived, authorities said.

The shooting Saturday took place at 3:50 a.m. in the apartment of Beth A. Madden, 32, in the 3800 block of Kirkpatrick Homes. Madden is the former girlfriend of Farmer and mother of his two small sons, who also live at the address.

The shooting was the account of the Saturday incident.

Madden had been watching television a short time earlier in the living room when she heard glass breaking in the kitchen. Madden's two sons and Rutter were asleep in the living room.

When Madden got up to investigate she saw a man, who she identified as Farmer, standing in the kitchen.

A kitchen window had been broken and Farmer apparently had unlocked the back door.

Farmer apparently had a 22-caliber pistol and a shotgun. As Madden walked toward him, the man allegedly made a threat and started firing the pistol. Two or three shots were fired, Madden told police.

As Farmer was firing the weapon, Madden ran from the back door to a neighbor's apartment. Farmer ran after her and grabbed her hand, trying to prevent her from getting inside the neighbor's door.

Madden pulled away from the Farmer and entered the apartment, she said. The neighbor said she became afraid after seeing the weapons, and called police.

Rutter told police he was asleep when the shooting started. He saw a man holding a pistol and a shotgun and ran for the front door as the man started firing the pistol at him.

Rutter said he was hit twice before he could get outside.

Police said a small hole was found in a wall of the apartment.

Police said Farmer had not lived at the Kirkpatrick address since January.

Cooper

A report made last May, when the boy was 3 years old, by Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital's sex abuse unit, says, "The child has given history to three separate persons at this time, of sexual abuse by his grandfather. He has been fairly consistent in his disclosures."

Mary Herzog, Larry Herzog's wife and the boy's grandmother, has said Cooper had fabricated the allegations of sex abuse out of "hatred" for her father, who opposed Cooper's efforts several years ago to have the boy adopted.

"The main thing is, she wanted to get rid of him and we stopped it," Mary Herzog said. She said the Herzogs had tried to get custody of the boy, but failed.

Mary Herzog said Cooper coached the boy on what to say to abuse investigators. She said that's why the boy was in hiding.

"She's got something to hide. She doesn't want the boy talking to anybody, so what has she got to hide?"

But Karen Deen, a former employer and one of two dozen Cooper's supporters outside the courtroom Monday, said Cooper had "always been very honest with me."

Deen conceded that Cooper had talked of putting the boy up for adoption "when she wasn't making enough money. Trying to provide the best possible future for (the boy) seemed to be her biggest priority."

Cooper's supporters had planned to tie yellow ribbons on their cars and mailboxes as a sign of support.

When Haine found out about the allegations of sex abuse, he tried to get Cooper freed. Duff refused to hear his petition, and Haine vowed to get her removed from the case.

Maher said Monday that the state's attorney's office was waiting to see whether Isbell separated the two cases, "because you only get one of these charges. We want to make sure we've got the right person."

(Three figures are shown. The amount of the American Pre-Need Plan is available from 0-100 and may be for more or less than the amount used in this example. Younger ages reflect group savings than this example.)

What You Don't Know Could Hurt You.

Shedding some light on a touchy subject—

Each year, more than 450,000 Americans are diagnosed with skin cancer—one of the most common forms of cancer. Studies show skin cancer is caused by repeated sun exposure, and in many cases can be prevented by taking a few simple precautions.

Fortunately, skin cancer is the easiest cancer to detect, and if found early enough, most cases can be treated successfully.

Colossians 3:11 "... but Christ is all ..."

There can never be any doubt in our minds that Christ is all. He is the Son of God. He was sacrificed for the sins of the world. He was obedient to the will of the Father. He has this testimony: He pleased God.

Now we must hold Christ in the same esteem as God did. He is sufficient for us. He is all we need. He is the way, the truth, and the life.

As St. Augustine said, "Christ is not valued at all unless He be valued above all." Let Him be your all. Today.

King Arthur soon will be competing with volcano, rain forest, sharks

I could almost hear the music of "Jaws" as the monster turned swiftly in the water and made a beeline toward me. Well, not really.

The sharks are missing from behind the Mirage Hotel's reservation desk until mid-May, while their tank is being refurbished. But the white tigers are on view, and the simulated volcano is erupting on schedule outdoors every 15 minutes.

Another attraction at the new Caribbean-theme Las Vegas resort, the Mirage, visited in late April — is an indoor rain forest created near the casino.

ONE-UPMANSHIP is one of the many games in the city where nothing succeeds like excess. The Mirage is the most expensive southern Nevada hotel and also qualifies for other "firsts."

We found it to be the busiest place in town. Opened in November 1989, it is still a "must see" destination for tourists.

Other Las Vegas firsts include the expanded Riviera, now boasting the world's largest casino; the fast-growing Holiday, which is the world's biggest hotel; and the Las Vegas Hilton (formerly the International), largest resort hotel in this world or anywhere else.

ELVIS PRESLEY once starred at the LV Hilton on a first-name-only basis and the LVH has just promoted Wayne (Wayne Newton) to similar status as its top entertainer, filling a 1,700-seat theater for two two-hour-plus shows each night.

He's not only shed his last name but also his mustache.

The Hilton, which features a statue of Elvis, shares Hilton-chain operations in Las Vegas with the now-giant Flamingo Hilton and the brand-new O'Sheas.

WHAT ELSE IS NEW? The Rio, a suites-only hotel with, what else? — a Brazilian theme.

And on June 19, attention will focus on the Excalibur as the newest No. 1. With 4,032 guest rooms, it will be the biggest resort hotel ever.

Bill Winter

Despite being situated in the desert, it will re-create medieval England — King Arthur's Camelot — complete with knights in armor (security guards) patrolling the grounds on horseback.

THE EXCALIBUR (Arthur's sword) is being opened by Circus Circus, the most successful casino/hotel, whose stock is highly regarded on Wall Street. Circus Circus has done so well that it financed the Excalibur the old-fashioned way, with cash.

Like Circus Circus, the Excalibur will go after the family market, translated as catering to the care and feeding of youngsters while their parents gamble.

Circus Circus does so well that it has to turn away many prospective guests. It expects that the Excalibur won't hurt its volume, instead mainly attracting visitors who haven't been going to Las Vegas at all.

CASLE TOWERS at the Excalibur will help create a fantasy setting, and the staff will be costumed as kings, queens (no jacks or knaves), members of the Round Table, lords, ladies-in-waiting, serfs, maidens, minstrels, jesters, jugglers, joustiers and magicians.

There are 14 multicolored spires, including one 265 feet tall; 12 restaurants, including a 1,400-seat buffet; two 50-seat theaters equipped with "dynamic motion" to help create the sensation of auto chases and Olympic bobsled races; and a Renaissance-style entertainment area.

A "royal village" will include 23 shops. The half-million-square-foot public area has a 100,000-square-foot casino with 2,630 slot machines.

There are too many chandeliers, shields and swords to count, not to mention stained-glass windows, cobblestones, murals and crafts of the Middle Ages. Drawbridges form the entrances, spanning a moat.

NEARLY EVERY HOTEL in Las Vegas is adding a new wing, and the population is one of the fastest-rising in the United States.

With Las Vegas leading the way, Reno second, Laughlin a surprise third, Lake Tahoe fourth and even Mesquite edging up, this truly is a boom time in the desert state of legalized gaming.

Nevada hotel and casino employment now totals 262,700, up a net 21,000 in the last year. The 17.1 percent overall job growth in the two years ending in December '89 leads all 50 states.

In the 12 months from March 1989 through February 1990, Las Vegas created 40,000 new jobs of all kinds, a 12 percent increase.

WAYNE NEWTON IS NOT the only western star. Ana-Margret's late-April appearance at Caesars Palace attracted an audience packed with celebrities, including Burt Reynolds and Loni Anderson.

Other entertainers performing at the Caesars are Rita Hayworth, Dean Martin, Redd Foxx, Sherman Hemsley, Lou Rawls, the Platters, Larry Gatlin and Samson destroying a temple.

But what might be the best attraction of all is the domed Ominimax theater's film program that surrounds the audience with sights and sounds.

"To the Limit," taking you down ski slopes and through a living human body, and "Hidden Secrets," showing the Grand Canyon to you better than if you visited the canyon itself.

Law deserves some credit

Monday night the community will turn out in force to again salute the work done by law enforcement in the Quad City area. We should be doing this 365 times a year, but since we can't, we might as well make the best of our one shot a year.

What do our civil servants do for us? Just look at two big cases handled in less than a week:

• Within hours Friday, officers solved and had a confession from the man believed responsible for the killing of elderly Lydia Colwell of Granite City.

• On Tuesday, after four days of work, police nabbed the man believed to have invaded a Granite City apartment and to have shot one of its residents.

There were a lot of other cases that could have been written about — fender benders, power outages, traffic jams, domestic disputes, bar fights and juveniles pestering their neighbors. You name it. Our police have handled it.

They affect our lives in ways we never imagine and they're always there when we make the call. The cops on the beat do it day in and day out, and largely don't get thanks for the job they do. Still, they trudge ahead to the next set of circumstances, frequently putting their lives on the line.

To them we say thanks.

Moss helped spark growth

Although David Moss had moved to another state prior to his tragic death from an auto accident injuries May 5, his impact on the local community will be a lasting one.

A Pontoon Beach official for 10 years, including service as the town's third mayor from 1973 to 1979, he led the 27-year-old village during most of its second decade. He emphasized resurfacing of streets, construction of sanitary sewers, expansion of the police department, development of a municipal plan, creation of parks, provision of a village hall, expansion of village boundaries and strengthening of the retail/commercial base.

All of these goals were achieved in part while he was in office, and the village now encompasses a large, attractive area blessed by residential and business growth — a situation strongly aided by David Moss.

SEMC aids downtown plan

Announcement yesterday of a $4.2 million medical office building at 21st Street and Madison Avenue is good news for Granite Citizens and their hope for downtown area revitalization. Work is to start by September, with completion in late 1991 or early 1992.

The project by St. Elizabeth Medical Center will help accommodate and attract physicians in many fields, including orthopedics, internal medicine and ear, nose and throat. Both doctors and patients will benefit, since all of the existing medical office space is in use.

President J. Ellerman said the hospital sees Granite City's prospects as being "on the upswing." Second largest local employer, with more than 1,000 associates, SEMC also houses medical offices staffed by another 150 to 200 persons. Its gross 1990 revenue is projected at $84 million, including 26 percent from outpatient services.

"We hope to stay forever," Ellerman remarked, and it could be said SEMC already has been here "forever." The latest expansion recalls others in the hospital's history, which spans all but eight years of Granite City's 94-year past.

After expansions in 1922-31-44, the Binney Wing was established in 1958, the Doctor's Wing in 1972, the Kettler Center in 1977, the Wellness Center in 1980, the Edgewood Program at Edwardsville drug/alcohol treatment center in 1986 and an Edgewood medical office building in 1990.

The newest addition will go a long way toward assuring that local health care needs can be met, well into the next century.

Media forgot the obvious

Like hounds after a fox, reporters pounced on the Tamara Cooper story this week, smelling the sensational and knowing that the public would revel in it.

They forgot something, however: A 4-year-old boy, supposedly the victim of sexual abuse, is the victim of sexual abuse.

For those unfamiliar with the story, Cooper, 24, went to jail a week ago rather than adhere to court-ordered visitation rights for her father, Larry Herzing of Granite City.

Herzing, she said, sexually abused her son while the boy was living with his grandfather many months ago. In recent time she has kept the boy from Herzing. Last week, Assistant Circuit Judge Ellar Duff sent Cooper to jail for contempt of court, when the mother vowed that she would never let the grandfather see his grandson again.

Two important notes: Herzing has never been charged with any crime. It was Cooper who brought his name to the limelight, when she began calling every newspaper and TV station in town from Madison County Jail. Herzing is, however, being investigated.

The second point: It was also Cooper who fully agreed to talk about her son, removing him from the veil of privacy afforded most juveniles.

That's where I think the media failed a responsibility. The mother may have revealed her son's identity, but that did not force any news organization to print the boy's name. Someday, I would argue that the boy's identity was crucial to the story, but I don't see how.

Some would argue that those

familiar with Cooper or Herzing would know who the boy was anyway. That is probably true. On the other hand there are a whole lot more people who would never have known the child had they not picked up a newspaper or watched television in the last seven days.

This newspaper did not identify the boy beyond the description you've read above. We knew his name, but chose not to print it.

Why? Because we don't identify victims of sexual abuse, alleged or otherwise, unless the events they are involved in become so overwhelming that not identifying them would hurt the public. Certainly, the public's right to know was not so important in this case.

I thought, until last week, that all media had this policy. Not Channel 5, however, which ran not only the boy's name, but his picture. Not Channel 4, which identified him by name, but airbrushed a photo of the boy so that he was not identifiable. Not the Belleville News-Democrat, which has long taken pains to avoid identifying sexual abuse victims — until last week.

What happened? In the rush to get a great story to the public, the media just didn't think clearly in this case. And today, a little boy doubtlessly suffers.

Telling a story accurately is sometimes not as important as telling it responsibly.

Letters

Let the dead rest in peace

To the editor:

I have had two deaths in my family in the past year. As if these were not enough, I also have had problems with the state and city on two different occasions.

After I lost my brother-in-law May 24, 1989, the state of Illinois sent me a letter telling him to get his auto inspected for air pollution. I notified them that he had passed away and that the auto had been sold.

"Thinking this was enough, I went on about my business. Two weeks later, I received a notice that they were going to pull my brother-in-law's driver's license. I again sent them a letter telling them he had passed away and to please let his family rest. Well, two weeks later I received another letter telling me they were reinstating his driving privileges.

After I lost my father April 24, 1989, I received a letter from the city telling him he needed to get his dog a license. I sent them back a letter telling them the dog had been put to sleep as the dog was sick, and I gave them the veterinarian's name.

I received a letter telling him they were going to arrest him. I am thankful that my husband was at home to take care of this before I got home from work, as he would have had to bail me out of jail.

I worshipped my father; to receive such a letter would have made me temporarily insane. I know I would have done and said things that would have made me look as stupid as (the threatening letter writers) are.

Even though it has been a year since I lost my loved ones, it still hurts. And to be harassed by the state and city threaten them makes my blood boil.

At first, I thought: Let the state and city dig up my loved ones and give them a burial better than the one I could have afforded. But then, realizing how much of my tax dollars was going for all of this stupidity, I decided to make it known to the public how their tax dollars are being spent, as well as mine.

My husband asked that the city and state initiate a computer program to run a cross-check on all of the deaths before sending out such comments. They informed him that was impossible. But this is the computer age; let's get with it.

I do hope I have heard the last on both topics, as they keep opening up old wounds, which bring only hurt to the families.

If anyone has lost a loved one recently, beware if they had a dog or a car. You could be in for a lot more hurt and grief.

Cable not basic necessity

To the editor:

Many of us who have supported cable TV from the day when it first became available have become concerned about the large and repeated increases in subscription rates since cable TV was deregulated.

Even the United States Congress has put the matter on its agenda. Below is a copy of a letter sent to Cencom of Illinois:

This is a short note in response to the $2 per month rate increase for cable TV which went into effect April 1.

In my opinion, you would be wise to consider that cable TV services are not a necessity of life as air, water, food and shelter are. Cable TV is subscription rates for entertainment that a family may choose to enjoy.

Accordingly, there is surely a cost limit that, when reached, will cause subscribers to seek out other forms of entertainment.

In my case, with basic cable,

TMC and HBO, the cost is getting uncomfortably close to $10 per week. The limit for me is close (perhaps it has already been reached), and that is when I will choose to reduce TV cable costs, either by dropping part or all of the services.

We watch AMC, A&E and TNT the most frequently. Then come TMC, a far second, and HBO, a very distant third. HBO would be dropped first and then, if need be, TMC would be dropped. Videotape rentals would easily replace the movies these services provide.

You might start by indicating to TV moguls that by exorbitant fees paid for sports events, specials, etc., that are passed on to the subscriber, they are ultimately sap the strength out of the cable TV industry if large numbers of patrons go into a defensive mode of dropping all or part of the services they now enjoy.

Organ article helped much

To the editor:

My mom and I would like to thank Andy Strong for writing the fine article March 25 about organ donation and transplantation. Not enough is known about the organ donor and the chance of life, but through articles such as this more knowledge can be gained.

We would also like to express our deepest appreciation for the many cards, phone calls and prayers from family, friends and church groups from all over the United States.

We now realize the power that caring people and prayer have. There is nothing more powerful than this kind of love.

There are not and never could be enough words to describe what this has done for our faith in mankind and God. A special thank you to Doctors Paul Garvin and Jeffrey Reese, the transplant surgeons at St. Louis University Hospital, for helping God create another miracle.

God bless you all.

Course would hurt heritage

To the editor:

As a teacher at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, I have serious objections to the current plans to develop a golf course on the campus.

Such a proposal strikes at the heart of my mission as a teacher; therefore, I feel that it is my responsibility to take a position on this matter in the interests of providing the optimum teaching environment for students.

The view of human nature which I present in my classes, based on scientifically established facts of human evolution, is that humans are integrally related to the natural world and not apart from it — and that since we are involved in the delicate balance of nature, we do not have a special dispensation for unlimited exploitation of it.

In flooding our environment with manufactured poisons and other chemicals, we are decreasing the safety margin which stands between our planet as it exists now and the extinction of ourselves and other species.

A golf course would replace innumerable species of plants and animals with primarily two: grass and humans, the first of which would consume large amounts of water and chemicals with very little positive return, resulting in a substantial environmental loss; the other — selected humans — would have succeeded in destroying the flora and fauna to the end of a few hours of recreation.

We are learning more daily about the frightening costs of the loss of various types of wilderness areas, such as swamps, wetlands and rain forests, formerly considered "wastelands."

The change of site from a more used area on campus to such a "wasteland" does not address the basic problem, which is that of a lack of observance of principles of conservation as they are now understood.

On the long-term view, which is the responsibility of educators to impart, I would question the trade-off of this part of the natural heritage of future generations which such a project represents.

I have heard no convincing case for the social or economic value of a golf course to SIUE, only speculations that it may attract some business to the industrial park.

I believe that the teaching mission of the university extends beyond that which an industrial park offers; further, I seriously doubt that a golf course would affect its success one way or the other and have seen no evidence that it would.

A final point that should be made is that the golf course symbolizes elitism; not only does it reflect arrogance toward the natural world, but also toward those who have no access to the wealth which such an enterprise implies.

Regardless of who uses the golf course, it will mean the use of public wealth (land) for non-productive ends, and it is an affront to the many poor and homeless people, children in poorly equipped schools, and those who cannot afford medical and dental care, to say nothing of those who cannot afford to come to SIUE.

If there are no state funds for these needs, how can there be funds for the promotion of such an undertaking?

I oppose the proposed golf course for these reasons, and because it is in conflict with my mission as a teacher. If it were to be built, I would view the one resulting benefit to be the one and only lesson of tragic human shortsightedness for students in my classes.

Schlemer makes top marks

Schlemer Realty Inc., an area real estate firm, has achieved national recognition for placing in the top 10 percentile of more than 8,500 real estate firms across the country.

The honor, awarded by National Statistical Research Co. of Chicago, is based on a computer analysis of hundreds of thousands of questionnaires sent to recent home buyers asking for an evaluation of the service they received from the real estate firm who handled their transaction.

Schlemer Realty Inc. scored well above the national average when more than 8,500 real estate companies across the country were surveyed. The customers were asked to evaluate the service provided and the majority of Schlemer Realty Inc.'s customers responded that the service was good or excellent.

This is the fourth year in a row Schlemer Realty Inc. has received this industry honor.

Firms let fingers do faxing

MENLO PARK, CALIF. — Is there an employer in this country who doesn't have at least one facsimile machine?

According to a survey of 991 human resources professionals conducted by Adia Personnel Services, only 4 percent of those questioned reported that they do not have a fax machine, and nearly one quarter of the respondents (23 percent) now have six or more facsimile machines.

More than half of those surveyed (55 percent) believe that fax machines are rarely used by employees for personal business, such as ordering lunch or sending messages to friends. Human resources managers at high tech companies reported the most use of fax machines for personal business, and in 14 percent of these companies, employees send and receive faxes on a daily basis.

County labor federation honors 5

The Greater Madison County Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO, has presented five awards in recognition of superior work on behalf of union people.

The awards were given at its first annual Labor Awards Dinner, held at the St. Gregory Armenian Community Center in Granite City on April 14.

The awards and their recipients were:

•Labor Leader of the Year: Greater Madison County Federation of Labor Secretary Guy Mudd.

Mudd began serving as secretary of the former Alton-Wood River Area Federation of Labor in 1979 and has assisted in all committee work.

He was especially recognized for enthusiastic organizing with in the new federation's territory. His community activities include the Riverbend United Way, Growth Association, American Red Cross, vice president of Pride Inc. and president of the board of the Crisis Center in Wood River.

An advisor to Compassionate

Friends, an organization that helps bereaved parents, Mudd is an executive committee member of his Army veterans association along with serving as assistant chaplain, is chairman of the 75th veterans reunion scheduled for July, with an expected attendance of 1,000, and is active in the Milton Road Church of Christ in Alton.

Illinois State AFL-CIO President Richard Walsh was present and voiced his congratulations to the recipients.

When accepting the award for Labor Leader of the Year, Mudd thanked his wife, Marie, for her continued patience and said his tombstone will probably read, "Gone to another meeting."

•Friend of Labor: Illinois State Sen. Sam Vadala. The veteran local lawmaker has worked behind the scenes and "on the record" for working men and women in the state, a spokesman said. Vadala has been ranked in the top five legislators by the Illinois State AFL-CIO for his lifetime voting record on issues supporting working men and women. His list of honors is five typewritten pages long and includes honorary delegate status in the Greater Madison County Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO.

•Community Service Award: Charles Leo Muenstermann, for tireless work on the Gordon Moore Park in Alton.

He has been working on the park and has gotten other unions involved in the work since April 1978.

The work includes the Carillon House, concession stands, ball fields, roadways, curbs, an Oriental garden, a zig-zag bridge, for which he persuaded Carpenters Local 377 to donate $5,000 for handrails, flooring and construction, and Braille plaques in Rose Garden parking lots.

He currently is working on the bathroom and community center.

Muenstermann's activities span 30 years and include: delegate to the Madison County District Council of Carpenters and to the Southern Illinois District Council, past president and past treasurer of Local 377, officer of the Joint Apprentice Committee, master of the Apprentice Committee, trustee of the Health and Welfare Committee, business agent and business manager for the Madison County District Council and business agent for the Southern Illinois District Council.

•Health and Safety Award: Bobbie J. Jones.

He began his career at the Dow Chemical metals plant in Madison on April 12, 1965, and took an active interest in union affairs and the members' welfare. Jones began serving as a grievance committeeman for Steelworkers Local 484 in May 1982 and was re-elected in May 1985.

As a grievance committeeman he became involved in the safety program. In May 1988 Jones was appointed safety committee chairman for the plant's union safety committee.

In October 1988, an employee was killed by molten metal. Jones served actively with the investigation and assisted the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. He remains active in the safety program at the plant, now owned by Spectra-tille Concomit Inc.

•George Meany Scouting Award: Al Kravenak.

He began his career as a Boy Scout in Cub Pack 25 in 1951-54 and went on to Boy Scout Troop 23 and became a member of Order of the Arrow Black Hawk Lodge 94 at Camp Warren Lewis in Godfrey.

He attained the rank of Life Scout.

He received a statuette award from the Piassa Bird Council in 1983. Kravenak took his troop to the Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico in 1984 and 1987 for backpacking in the Rocky Mountains.

Besides fund-raising activities, he formed a troop and Explorer post at the Mental Health Center in Alton, serving the developmentally disabled. He continues as scoutmaster of the troop.

He has also served as a youth soccer and baseball coach for several years. He is a member of the Ivy Heights Church of God and Plumbers and Pipefitters Local 553.

Lower interest rate will aid home buyers

GRANITE CITY — As the 1990 home buying season continues, anxious consumers are looking at such real estate variables as location, price — and interest rates.

Rate watchers have something to be excited about, said George Crews of Crews Realty/Better Homes and Gardens.

"Recent figures from the Federal Housing Finance Board show the national average for a 30-year fixed-interest-rate mortgage hovering at about 10 percent. This represents a full percentage-point drop from information recorded in last year's Better Homes and Gardens Housing Cost Survey," Crews said.

"The study taken in the spring of each year found 1989 rates averaging very close to 11 percent in local markets.

"And as good as the interest rate picture looks now, industry experts expect rates to remain stable and possibly decline."

According to Crews, "The National Association of Realtors (NAR) reports that an expected further loosening of credit by the Federal Reserve Board will cause interest rates to drift downward. The falling rate is also seen as partly responsible for a three-point increase in the affordability index used by NAR to track a home buyer's purchasing power."

One difference in the purchasing power of this year's and last year's is explained with this example, he said.

"If you were buying a $100,000 home and had an $80,000 30-year mortgage at an interest rate of 10 percent, you'd be paying $702 in principal and interest a month, yet at 11 percent you'd be paying $762 a month — $720 more over one year."

Crews also said that with lower rates, more buyers can qualify for loans and buyers can qualify for more expensive homes.

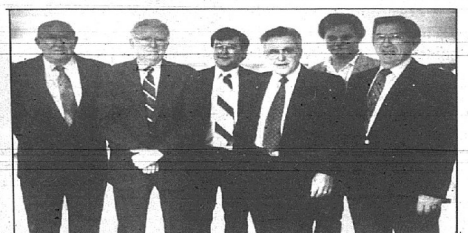

First-time buyers — traditionally younger and with lower incomes — also benefit when rates are low.

THEN AND NOW: Some members at the ribbon cutting thirty years ago got together again recently for a birthday party at Granite Bowl. Also gathered were most of the bowlers who have bowled perfect games at the center.

Granite Bowl celebrates 30th birthday

GRANITE CITY — Granite Bowl at 2701 Nameoki Road has only one secret for staying in business for 30 years.

"Great bowlers," said manager Dennis Ross. "These bowlers we have are a great bunch of people. Some started in Junior Leagues back in the 60s with us and now have their kids in Junior League."

"Whole families bowl together — on the same team, against each other, or separately on Adult, Senior or Junior leagues."

Henry Ross, Dennis Ross' father, was one of the original owners of the alley. He eventually bought the other partners out and later leased the lanes to Brunswick.

Today, Dennis Ross said, the bowling alley is in a "rebirth" and he recently invited 30 years worth of bowlers, city officials, business men and other friends to the center both for a birthday party and to show off the most recent improvements to the center.

"This is our home and our customers are our neighbors, not just dollar signs," Dennis Ross said. "They're my friends and I'm always going to make sure they have a good time on their night out."

The birthday party was held in the newly-completed banquet room in the basement of the center which features the bar from the former Charlie's Restaurant down the road.

"We're not a big corporation," Dennis Ross said. He said Granite Bowl doesn't have the resources for promotions and mail-outs that larger chains have available.

"Our bowlers have built out business with us," he said. "Maybe that's why I feel toward them like I do. We're hometown people and it makes me feel good to see out neighbors stick with us and take pride in their bowling center."

"This bowling center has become a big part of my life and I'm going to make it the best for our bowlers."

Dennis Ross said home-owned businesses like the bowling center, Dave's Movies and More and "many many others" have traditionally supported softball teams, high school sports, local charities and club events.

"Town pride isn't old fashioned, it's essential," he said.

And when business chains come into town, he said, "As new and big as they are, people don't run away from the ones that started here and live here because they do a good job for their people. They stick with the local people."

Dennis Ross said Granite Bowl plans to be in business for at least another 30 years.

"When we retire we want to leave the business to our kids," he said. "We want them to carry on the tradition, remembering this is their home and making it grow and prosper."

Cahokia Mounds busy with activities in May

COLLINSVILLE — There will be something for everyone during the month of May at Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site near Collinsville.

The five-mile Nature/Culture Hike will be held May 12 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Site personnel will explain archaeological research and cultural features of the site, and will describe how ancient Indians used the natural resources of the area.

The hike is free; participants should bring a bag lunch and dress appropriately for the weather.

The less adventurous can attend a free performance of traditional Southern Drum music by Mike's Group at 1 p.m. May 12. Traditional Indian dances and clothing styles dictated by age and gender will also be explained.

An Indian dance and music class is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. May 19. The class will cover various types of Indian songs, dances and clothing designs appropriate for men and women of the time.

The class is open to adults and youths age 11 or older. Advance registration and a $10 tuition fee are required.

Cahokia Mounds Kids' Day, scheduled for 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on May 20, will complete the month's activities.

For information on any of the programs, call the Cahokia Mounds Interpretive Center at (618) 346-5160.

The state historic site is administered by the Illinois Historic Preservation Agency. It is located near Collinsville off Interstate 55/70 and Illinois 111, on Collinsville Road.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

Lignoul's hit keeps Warriors in race

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — The Belleville West Maroons were in somewhat of a rut and the Warriors were happy to keep it going Tuesday.

West lost a 3-0 lead for the third straight game as Granite City came back for a 4-3 win on Chad Lignoul's two-out RBI triple in the sixth inning. Rich Schardan pitched his third straight complete game as the Warriors moved into sole possession of third place in the Southwestern Conference, just a game behind co-leaders Belleville East and East St. Louis.

JEFF STEPHENS, here diving back into second base on a pickoff attempt, has played brilliantly at shortstop for the Warriors.

The Maroons came back for an 8-3 win in the second game of the double-header, but that was too late for coach Chuck Hasenstab.

"I think our chances to win the conference are over," he said after his team fell to 3-4 in league play (10-4 overall). "We've hit the ball pretty well, but our defense hasn't been very good."

The Warriors certainly didn't let West starter Rob Lisch (3-4) shut out Granite City 2-0 with a five-hitter on April 12. He allowed only six hits Tuesday, but a huge error by center fielder Chris Crabtree allowed the two tying runs to score in the fifth.

"Sure, we got some breaks, but we helped them get a few runs, too," said Warrior coach Bob Stegmeyer. "I can't say we blew Lisch out. We probably hit the ball harder against him when he shut us out. We hit some long fly balls at that open field down there."

The Warriors committed three errors in the third inning as the Maroons jumped to a 3-0 lead. The first run scored on a throwing error by catcher Joe Wallace. John Oestreich had an RBI single and Ryan Burkis got an RBI when his ground ball went through Dan Partney at first base.

Granite City got one back in its half of the third as Jim McKeehan blooped a double and scored on Wallace's infield out. Then came the big break. Lignoul and McKeehan singled in the fifth and with two outs — and first base open — Wallace hit a short fly to center. Crabtree had a long way to come, but got there in time only to have the ball bounce off his glove as both runs scored for a 3-3 tie.

Lisch issued his only walk in the fifth.

Neidhardt signs with Lindenwood

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — In more than 160 years, Lindenwood College has never lost a football game. Bryan Neidhardt will try to help keep that tradition alive.

Actually, Lindenwood, a liberal arts college in St. Charles, Mo., only began a football program last year. The Lions were 4-0 playing a junior varsity schedule, but they will be a varsity team this fall in the NAIA Division II.

Neidhardt, who will be graduating from Granite City High School in three weeks, has signed a letter of intent to play at Lindenwood. He was signed by Granite City's Nick Pettillo, an assistant to Dave Schroeder at Lindenwood.

"We've got about 47 guys signed right now," said Pettillo. "We're pretty excited about what we're doing with the program. And Bryan should be a big part of it."

Neidhardt (6-0, 195), who said he wants to be a stock broker someday, played offensive line and some defense for the Warriors last year. Pettillo is projecting him as an outside linebacker for the Lions.

"If he could put on a few more pounds we might be able to use him at a position we call a chase/nose tackle," said Pettillo.

Schroeder, Pettillo and the Lions are trying to land as many players from the St. Louis area to build support for the program. In addition to Neidhardt, Lindenwood has signed John Gula and Tom Aldridge of the state championship Althoff Crusaders and they are recruiting a number of other players from Belleville and O'Fallon.

Netters win 2; prepare for SWC meet

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

The Warrior tennis team improved to 6-5 with convincing wins Saturday over Civic Memorial and Monday over Cahokia.

Granite City topped the Comanches 8-1 in a meet which had been postponed twice previously due to the weather. Five Warriors scored straight sets win in singles play, as did two of the three victorious doubles teams.

Chad Lane beat Eric Gillam 6-1, 7-5; Danny Debert beat Bob Slatweiler 6-1, 6-0; Matt Fors beat Walter Sykes 6-1, 6-0; Nathan McClain beat Jon Cates 6-1, 6-0 and Sunil Kumar beat Chris Deffuria 6-2, 6-1. Debert and Lane opened the doubles competition with a win, followed by McClain and Scott Portell, then Fors and Joe Lombardi.

The Warriors got a split in Bethalto on Saturday, blanking CM 9-0 and losing 5-4 to Alton. Nothing wins against the Eagles were Andy Wolf, Scott Harrison, Debert, Fors, Lane and Portell in singles; Wolf and Lane, Debert and Fors, and Portell and Harrison won doubles matches. Wolf, Portell and Debert all won in straight sets against Alton, but Granite City lost two of three doubles matches to the Redbirds. Wolf and Lane were the only doubles winners.

Granite City competes in the Southwestern Conference Meet this weekend in Alton. The Warriors have a dual meet with Althoff next Tuesday, the final meet prior to sectional competition in Granite City on May 18.

Warriors.

Plenty of reasons for Baker to smile

Gene Baker has an illustrious past, but he's looking forward to an even better future.

What he's perhaps most excited about is that he won't be teaching at Granite City High School next year. But don't be alarmed. He'll still be coaching the boys and girls soccer programs.

Baker, an English teacher, was granted a one-year sabbatical by the school board. He'll be coaching the same, relaxing more, getting some exercise and going back to school (probably at SIUE). It's not that he doesn't enjoy teaching, but after more than 20 years anyone could use some time off.

But there's something to be excited about in the not-so-distant future. That would be the 1990 Lady Warriors. After a 3-3 start, Baker's girls have ripped off six straight victories, outscoring their opponents 22-3 in that time. The Lady Warriors are the second seed in the Collinsville Sectional, but they sure didn't look second-best to the Lady Hawks after Monday's 2-0 win over the Redbirds. Wolf and Lane were the only doubles winners.

Whether the Lady Warriors finally make it to state this year or not, the future looks exceedingly bright. In a word, the 1991 team figures to be loaded. Granite City has scored 29 goals so far this year. Twenty-six of those goals have been scored by underclassmen.

The Lady Warriors will miss seniors like Jennifer Moniz, Julie Dempsey, Beth Epperson, Carrie Ross and Shelly Reynolds next year, but it likely won't be hard to replace them. They have a double-edged scoring machine in sophomore Amanda Witter (seven goals) and junior Addie Lenz (six). That duo will again be dangerous next year and Witter will be a high-powered explosive as a senior.

Lenz and Angela Bission will lead a strong senior group next year, but what's really notable about this team is the freshmen. Baker has sixth ninth graders who have already made significant varsity contributions this year. Tammy Dutko, Ann Logan, Julie Golan and Suzanne Stuart have been solid in the field, while Beth Rapoff and Stephanie Kuhl have been steady in goal.

Rapoff has one shutout and shared one with Leslie Slavely, who also shut out defending Missouri state champion Incarnate Word.

West, CM beat Lady Warriors

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — After putting together a modest two-game winning streak, the Lady Warrior softball team reverted to old form in losing to area powers Belleville West (11-1) Tuesday and Civic Memorial (5-2) on Wednesday.

Eagle pitcher Debbie Rothe held Granite City to three hits and seven strikeouts in a complete game.

"Debbie is only a junior and our top pitcher," said CM coach Jeff Dyer. "She had been struggling, so it's good to see her back on track."

The Lady Warrior offense helped as they stranded five, including three runners at third with less than two outs.

"I was pleased with the way the girls made contact, but we didn't get hits when we need them," said Granite City coach John Hutchings after his team fell to 4-9 (3-4 in the conference).

Amey Bohnenstiel took the loss as she started after Mia Puhse injured her knee Tuesday.

"Amey pitched well considering she's only in with no notice," said Hutchings.

CM scored two in the first on a walk, a hit by Christy Connolly, a double steal and a wild pitch. Kim Pawlak singled and scored on an error for one run in the Granite City first, but Janell Hunt homered in the third for a 3-1 CM lead. Carrie Bohnenstiel scored the Lady Warriors' other run when she singled and eventually scored on a throwing error while stealing third. Michelle Bequette also had a double for Granite City.

NOTES: The Lady Warriors play at East St. Louis today, then host the four-team Granite City Invitational on Saturday. Granite City plays Roxana at 10 a.m. on Diamond 8, while Wood River and Alton Marquette play on Diamond 7. The losers will play on Diamond 7 for third place and the winners meet on Diamond 8 for the championship.

He took over the lead on the 21st lap of the 40-lap main event. Pole sitter Danny Smith had led since the green flag was dropped. Swindell started from the third row.

The first heat was won by Mark Kinser followed by Ron Standridge and Shane Carson. The second heat was won by Brian Tobin followed by Todd Bishop and Greg Stair. Other heat winners were Hodnett and Rick Howerton.

Gamester led for 18 laps, gave way to Roy Caruthers for two laps, then led the rest of the way. Aaron Berryhill and Meyers won the heat races. There were 35 Mighty Midgets on hand.

the sixth, but it turned into the winning run. Brian Harshany walked and with two outs, Lignoul swung at a pitch up in his eyes and tomanhawked it into the right-center gap.

"I couldn't take a chance at taking a pitch in that situation," said Lignoul, munching a hot dog between bunts. "He threw some good pitches, I thought I had the hit on the pitch before."

Lignoul dinked one over the first baseman's head, but it just dropped foul.

"That was a terrific at-bat for Chad," said Stegemeier. "He fought off some real good pitches and had the right idea on that ball that just went foul."

McKechan had two more hits last fall," said Petrillo. "But they thought they could play pretty well. It's always a surprise to go undefeated. But we can't let that 7-0 record go to our heads. We were playing JV teams that spent most of the week serving as scout teams for their varsity squads. It will be different this year."

The Lions will be playing seven of their 10 games this year at home, which is Harlan Hunter Stadium in St. Charles.

and is batting .349. But the best hit of the day was West catcher Brian Daubach. He had two monstrous triples and a single, but they all came with the bases empty. He filed out with two runs in the third. Daubach is hitting .528 with seven home runs, 20 RBIs and a 1.333 slugging percentage.

"We haven't figured him out yet," said Stegemeier. "But Rich makes the pitches when he has to. He always has one inning where he has trouble and we always seem to have one bad defensive inning, but that was all."

Harshany had two triples and three RBIs of his own in the second game, but he gave it all back with one pitch to No. 9 hitter Jay White, who came in with one hit all year. White hit a three-run homer in the second inning for a 4-2 Maroon lead. Chris Hill allowed four more runs in relief and the Warriors left 10 men stranded.

NOTES: Granite City and Belleville East will play in the championship game of the Granite City Sophomore Tournament Monday. SLUH and CBC will play for the consolation title. The tournament was delayed by rain and a power outage last weekend, but most of the games were able to be played. Regional seedings will be determined next week. The Warriors are again in the Edwardsville Regional with the host Tigers (183), Alton, Jerseyville, Civic Memorial, Roxana and Wood River.

will move up quickly. Schroeder previously coached at Evangel (Mo.) College and Sioux Falls (S.D.).

"He's known for turning programs around quickly," said Petrillo. "They had seven straight losing seasons at Evangel and within three years he had them ranked nationally. They had never had a winning season at Sioux Falls, but then he led them to four straight winning seasons and they finished second in the nation one year."

Word. And Slavery? Well, she's just a sophomore, although she's been bothered by knee problems. Kuit, an outstanding athlete, made her first appearance of the year against archrival Collinsville on Monday and all she did was pitch a 2-0 shutout. She did it again Tuesday, 2-0 over Hazelwood East as Witter and Dutko scored. That was Dutko's second goal of the season. Wednesday's game with Hazelwood Central was rained out.

PSG basketball at GCC gym Saturday

Saturday will be a day of basketball at the Granite City Campus gym.

The Prairie State Games Region 8 team will hold a regional sports festival featuring 3 on 3 basketball for both boys and girls, according to Region 8 basketball chairman Larry Graham.

There will be teams for 7th-8th grades, as well as 9th-10th grades. There can be six players on each team, and registration will be $5 per player. T-shirts will be available and medals will go to the top three teams. Winners will advance to the Region 8 finals later this summer.

Signups can be at the gym beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday or by calling Larry Bennett at 692-3236.

Spartans 10-6 and had 11 corner kicks to two for East. That's total domination of a team which was unbeaten until last week and is one of the top-ranked teams in the St. Louis area.

If that's not enough young talent, be advised that Haig Nighossian's junior varsity squad was unbeaten and unscored upon for much of the season. Granite City will open sectional play at home May 22 with a 7 p.m. game against Metro East Lutheran, then likely will play either Quincy Notre Dame or Wood River two nights later at the same time. Should they get past that, they'll likely get Springfield Sacred Heart-Griffin in the semis at Collinsville (7 p.m. May 26). The championship game is May 29 at 7 p.m., and the state tournament is June 1-2 in St. Charles.

And what about the fall? Jay Robertson? Skip Birdsong? Jeff Stephens? Pat Rich? Expect more of the same from the defending state boys champs. Baker has plenty of reasons to smile these days.
